Berent e eats affecting the obviously confused administration of President Romevelt hase favored them. It is more evident now than it was when plans for the conference were made that the Democratic party lacks both a clear policy and the cohesiveness which would enable it to present an united front to voters

The Springfield conference will discusprimaril issues. Inc Itably candidates will interest the delegates but it is the hope of leaders to avoid the folly of creating dissension by talking more about men than about the principles of the organization which men will represent in 1936 in 1938 and in 1910

The first actual conference from which the Pepublican party gree was hold al Ripon Wis in 1854. It was a local meet ing however and attracted little attention The first stalewide conference of the new party was held at Jackson Wich on a later date the same year. The Inckson meeting alaia nalimia dila ininahipulog fromia aaw meetings in Maine Illinois Massachusotts Ohlo Indiana Misconsin and Iowa

Delegates to those meetings had an eno nous advantage over delegales to the Springfield conference. They had a concroje issue of wide interest which united them- slavery. In 193° the leans th ugh it is becoming clearer day by day has not been defined yet exactly. It promises to emerge eventually in the form of a na tional debat on the question as lo whether the loose experimentation of the new deal promises more real benefit to the nation than the conservative control of a go ero ment content to give a louse rein to private in lative. But the point is still indetermi-

One thing is clear. The prediction that Mr. Boosevell's victory in 193, and the Democratic gains in 1931 would kill the Republican party is discredited by interest the now of the minority party they are only a little greater than the woes of the majority whose disunion is becoming in eren ngly evident

Probably, In no other branch of public service are facts and figures so thainty and accurately assumbled for the proples benefit as in school operations Superintendent Hudson and his associates in school management have this informagive every citizen a complete and distinct picture of the schools situation and the requirements for efficient maintenance. This information will be presented in full detail in speech and in print so that when the citizens come to vote on renewal of the three mill; levy they will know what they are voting on and have an unmistakable realization of its urgent need

That is what should be done with every proposal relating to government and public service. The fact that Marion school au lhorities give citizens all the facts and keep them thoroughly informed is doubtless one of the main reasons that the schools here hold public confidence and can always court upon loyal support and cooperation
